is a purified substance that's derived from bacteria. Injections block the nerve signals to the muscle in which it was injected. Without a signal, the muscle is not able to contract. The end result is diminished unwanted facial wrinkles or appearance.

lasting time

The requires 24-72 hours to take effect, reflecting the time necessary to disrupt the synaptosomal process. In very rare circumstances, some individuals may require as many as five days for the full effect to be observed. Peaking at about 10 days, the effect lasts nearly 8-12 weeks.

Used For?

is a potent neurotoxin that inhibits release of acetylcholine at the neuromuscular junction. Injection of small quantities into specific overactive muscles causes localized muscle relaxation that smooths the overlying skin and reduces wrinkles. uses various forms to temporarily paralyze or relax muscle activity and is a good option for dynamic wrinkles. It can smooth out wrinkles and restore a more youthful appearance.

Usage:

According to guide, it is twelve units for the crow's feet or wrinkles around the eyes to get the desired result. That means 24 total units because we have two eyes. On the forehead, there are two different areas. Right above the eyebrows and in between the eyes is called the frown lines. According to the recommendations, this requires 20 units. And finally, for the lines further up the forehead, which we just refer to as forehead lines, it takes 20 units of . That's a total of 64 units to treat all three areas. However, remember I said this was just a guide.
