Aqualyx Body Slimming Fat Dissolving injections Effective Weight Loss

What is Aqualyx?

Aqualyx is an injectable compound made from the deoxycholate family of acids. The product may also be called Motolese's Solution, The acids present in Aqualyx cause fat destruction in the body. Plastic surgeons use Aqualyx for body contouring. They may inject it into different areas of the body, such as the:

back, chin, hips, knees, stomach, thighs

'AQUALYX' is one of the most popular and effective fat removal and body sculpting procedures The London Cosmetic Clinics offers. It is for those who want to loose fat at stubborn areas of the body.

The human body naturally stores fat, subcutaneous fat, in order to supply energy in times of need. Every body distributes the subcutaneous body fat by a genetically determined pattern. In almost all cases this inherent distribution cannot be remedied by a special diet or increased physical exercise. Aqualyx injections are very effective and is a noninvasive treatment for face and body sculpting. If you do not want invasive surgery and cannot afford the down time and discomfort of invasive liposuction, this is a great treatment to consider.

Aqualyx contains biocompatible and biodegradable ingredients:

A polymer from	3, 6-Anhydro-L-Galactose
D-Galactose	0.5%
Buffer systems	4.2%
Sodium salt of	(3 α , 5 α , 12 α) – 3, 12-dihydroxy-5-cholan-24-acid (7.5%)
Water for injection purposes	87%
Sodium chloride	0.8%
Product Name:	Aqualyx Fat Dissolving Injections

Process For Administering Aqualyx – How It Works

Individuals who long for a flawless silhouette can undergo lipotherapy or lipolysis (administration of Aqualyx) to achieve their perfectly contoured body shape. The term used to describe this procedure is known as Aqualysis or Aquaplasty. This process requires the use of special intralipotherapy needles (24G x 10cm not included), which once injected, liquify fat cells, permanently destroying them before releasing the fats into the lymphatic system.

An ultrasound device can be used to monitor the movement of Aqualyx into localized fat cells.

The whole process should take no more than an hour.

Although 2-8 treatments may be required, results are noticeable just after the first or second session. Treatments should be spaced out 4 weeks apart. More stubborn areas such as the hips and thighs may require more treatments than the chin and neck which can be treated in 1-3 sessions.

How is treatment carried out?

Only medical professionals that have received specialist training in administering Aqualyx, should treat patients with this product. Injections are usually repeated every 3 – 4 weeks and typically 2 injections at each spot during each treatment. Anaesthetics and flexible cannulas are used to aid the injection process.
