Product Description

Aqualyx is a non-surgical fat dissolving treatment that utilises a specially formulated solution to target and break down stubborn fat cells. It's commonly used for contouring areas like the chin, thighs, and abdomen.

Does Aqualyx actually work?

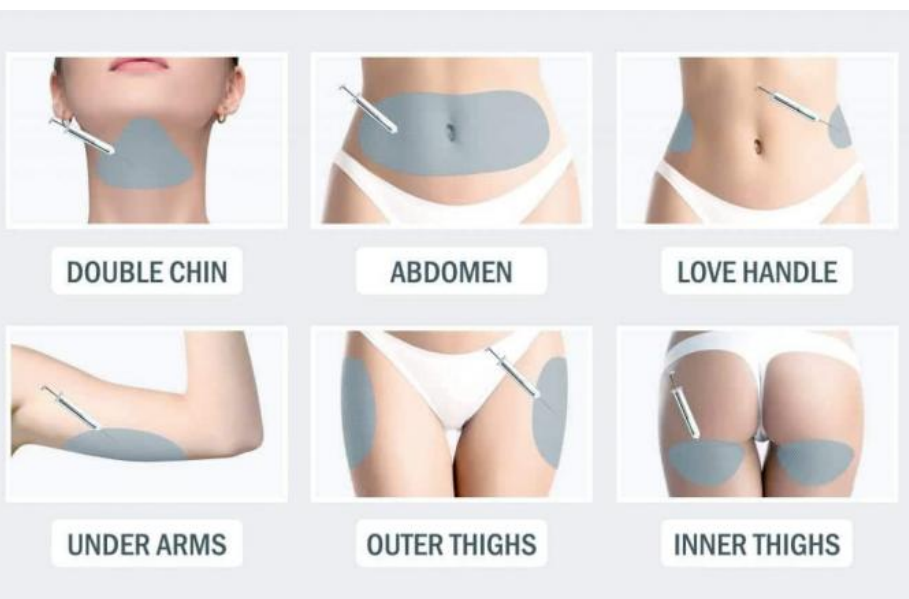

YES! Whilst every single cosmetic/aesthetic procedure cannot guarantee success because of differences in each individual, Aqualyx has been medically researched and clinically evidenced to show that the treatment is safe and approved.

How many Aqualyx sessions do you need?

Although the number of sessions needed will differ based on your desired results. Typically, between 3 to 5 treatments will be required, with 4 weeks between each treatment.

Aqualyx empowers you to take control of your appearance and embrace the confidence you deserve. Aqualyx delivers visible and satisfying results, targeting stubborn fat deposits that seem resistant to diet and exercise alone.

Aqualyx enables the ability to provide tailored and precise results, selectively targeting fat cells while preserving surrounding tissues, ensuring a safe and controlled approach to body contouring.
