Product Description

BOTULAX is a peripheral muscle relaxant that contains purified botulinum toxin type A (in combination with haemagglutinin) and sodium chloride (excipient). The mechanism of action of the product is based on the ability of botulinum toxin type A to block the transmission of nerve impulses. Intramuscular administration of the toxin disrupts the synthesis of acetylcholine (a neurotransmitter that ensures neuromuscular conduction) and leads to temporary paralysis of the facial muscles. Frozen facial expressions help relax muscles and smooth wrinkles.

ACTIVE INGREDIENT:

Clostridium botulinum toxin type A
(strain: Clostridium botulinum CBFC26)
Dose: 100 units (U)

MODE OF ACTION:

Type A botulinum toxin blocks signals from the nerves to the muscles
Botulinum toxin injected into the muscle can no longer shrink, which reduces wrinkles.
It is used for: forehead wrinkles, crow's feet (wrinkles around the eyes) and lion's wrinkle.
Horizontal and vertical neck wrinkles;
Lip contour correction
bruxisam

EFFECTIVENESS:

Botulax 100 iu guarantees high effectiveness.
The power fluctuation is tightly controlled between 91-115 units
Botulax provides a precise and even effect at the time of injection, guaranteeing high patient satisfaction with the preparation

The package includes a glass ampoule in which the powder is placed under pressure. Sometimes the ampoule may seem empty. For use, dilute the powder in the ampoule with saline. For 100 units, add 2.5 ml of saline, for 200 units - 5 ml of saline.
