Product Description

Profhilo Structura is an injectable skin treatment designed to reposition superficial fat to its natural state and counteract the natural loss of tissue that occurs over time within the skin. Treating age-related concerns including pronounced hollows and altered facial contours from midface fat loss, Profhilo Structura works to lift and contour the face.

Profhilo Structura – Advanced Injectable Skin Remodeling

Profhilo Structura is an innovative injectable treatment specifically designed to restore superficial fat to its natural position while counteracting the gradual loss of tissue that occurs with aging. By addressing age-related concerns such as pronounced hollows and changes in facial contours due to midface fat depletion, Profhilo Structura effectively lifts, sculpts, and enhances facial definition. This cutting-edge treatment works to rejuvenate the skin from within, promoting a more youthful and harmonized appearance.
